President's Message

November is a month for remembering our national past and celebrating all the things we have to be thankful for as individuals and as citizens. (I first typed "thankful" back there – that applies almost as well.) I made a short list of things I'm thankful for the other day and opportunity was near the top of the list.

As women in the accounting profession, we obviously encounter and make and accept many opportunities. We seek and attain educational goals through public and private institutions of learning. We are continually seeking professional certification and growth.

We participate in setting the direction of our profession through this organization and many others.

We influence public policy by voting, volunteering, staying informed, and sharing our opinions with others, including political leaders at all levels.

We work toward financial goals through employment and business and asset ownership.

We help children by sharing our vision and our experience and by building an infrastructure of opportunity through schools and libraries and belief in the individual.

I've come a long way from the circumstances of my childhood because my mother and my grandmother and many wonderful women and men before and since made decisions and sacrifices to build opportunities for me and for you and for all who follow after.

Thank you for carrying on the work.
